Rebecca Le Noel
Co-founder of Coco Wolf

Why and when was Coco Wolf set up?

We set up Coco Wolf after finding a niche in the market for elegant and durable furniture that is designed to be outside. I founded the company in 2013 with my sister Claudine Davis and our partners. The ethos of our brand is to provide a seamless flow of living areas into the exterior space.

What makes its outdoor furniture unique?

Our collections feature a unique drainage system, highly aerated pelt luxe cushions and quality fabrics which are treated to repel all elements of the weather. These factors efficiently allow rain water to run through or off the furniture, ensuring that it is quick to dry. This innovation allows each piece to sit comfortably outside all year round, without removing the cushioning or being covered.

This is what makes our collections stand out from other outdoor furniture. Coco Wolf's pieces are durable enough to withstand the elements all winter whilst retaining their style, luxury and comfort.

Removable slipcovers also offer practicality in cleaning and enable the look to be changed without a huge expense.

Do you offer a bespoke service?

We offer a made to measure service on our current range. All of our sofas can be adapted to fit spaces, and if a client has a bespoke piece they would like to get made, we offer this as a service with a prototype charge.
